Kenneth A. Kanter Collection of American Music and Theater, c. 1840-2006

Collection Summary

Creator: Kanter, Kenneth A., 1952-
Title: Kenneth A. Kanter Collection of American Music and Theater
Inclusive Dates: 1840-2006
Summary/Abstract: Kenneth A. Kanter, Chicago-born and Harvard educated Rabbi who has served congregations in Ohio, Texas, Australia, and Tennessee, gathered this collection out of his love for and serious interest in American popular music and American musical theater. The sheet music collection of approximately 2,500 pieces is strongest for Tin Pan Alley's 1900-1930 heyday, while the recordings and other publications emphasize the years 1940-2005.
Physical Description/Extent: 23.5 cubic feet
Accession Number: 2004.031
Language: Materials are primarily in English, though a handful of publications are in Hebrew.
Stack Location: Special Collections Center Workroom
Repository: Special Collections Division, Nashville Public Library, Nashville, Tennessee

Biographical/Historical Sketch

Kenneth Aaron Kanter, a native of Chicago, did his undergraduate work at Harvard University, where he majored in Jewish and American history. Upon graduation he received the British Royal Society For the Arts Medallion "To The Outstanding Student In The Arts at America's Outstanding University." He received rabbinical training at the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion in Cincinnati, where he received his M.A.H.L. degree in 1979 and was ordained in 1980 after serving student rabbi positions in Texas, Ohio, and Melbourne, Australia. After a term as assistant rabbi at The Temple, Congregation Ohabai Sholom in Nashville, he became senior rabbi of the Mizpah Congregation in Chattanooga. He returned to Nashville to serve the Congregation Micah in 1991 and here as elsewhere he was active in civic and humanitarian organizations. He was a member of the Leadership Nashville class of 1994. He authored the book The Jews On Tin Pan Alley in 1982, and for years presented musical lectures tracing Jewish contributions to American popular music. He moved to Cincinnati in 2005, returning to the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion to serve as director of recruitment and admissions.

Scope and Contents of the Collection

Materials include recordings, souvenir brochures, show posters, sheet music, books, and periodicals, tracing American popular music and musical theater from the mid-1800s into the twenty-first century. The sheet music collection of approximately 2,500 pieces includes the oldest items (dozens from the 1800s) and is strongest for the era of 1900-1930 popular songs, the heyday of Irving Berlin, Bert Kalmar, Harry Ruby, Jerome Kern,

Charles K. Harris, Jack Yellen, Andrew B. Sterling, Harry Von Tilzer, Gus Kahn, Edgar Leslie, and many other titans of Tin Pan Alley. Recordings, playbills, souvenir brochures and programs document Broadway musical productions from the 1940s to 2005.

Organization/Arrangement of Materials

The collection is divided into two series, with subseries as noted. Each subseries of Series I is arranged alphabetically by title; each subseries of Series II is arranged numerically, the numbers assigned during processing.
